About migration maps

Migration Yorkshire can provide bespoke maps showing data about migrants in the region, for our partner organisations in Yorkshire and Humber.

As there is no one definitive data source to understand trends in migration, we use various administrative data sources to learn about different migration groups. Most commonly, we map datasets at a local authority level about specific migrant groups: asylum seekers, refugees and new arrivals from any country.

How to request a map

To make a request, please contact data@migrationyorkshire.org.uk and we will send you some information about what we offer and find out if we can help you.
