Migration news roundup

Are you interested in migration news and policy? Then we have a great feature on the website for you.

Our Migration news roundup is for anyone interested in migration but without lots of time to search for news.

Pip Tyler, Policy and Research Manager said:

> ‘There’s a surprising number of migration news stories published every day, so it’s easy to miss something important. The Migration news roundup should help! Whether you want to catch up on stories about refugees, the Windrush generation, asylum seekers, EU nationals, young migrants or modern slavery, you should find lots of relevant items - and hopefully some you wouldn’t have found otherwise.’

The roundup is a new, weekly service drawing together news items on migration, covering policy, immigration law, individual stories, research and statistics, mainly relating to the UK but also with a snapshot of overseas stories.

Find the latest roundup, and any from past weeks on our news page.
