Horizon scanning for 2025

Migration Yorkshire has released its February 2025 horizon scan, outlining key developments and challenges anticipated in the region's migration landscape over the coming year. The comprehensive analysis covers policy changes, resettlement efforts, and integration initiatives affecting various migrant communities.

It includes an overview of the national picture affecting the sector, as well as providing specific detail on topics such as refugee resettlement, integration and cohesion, modern slavery and unaccompanied asylum-seeking children.

The full document, including the option to download it as a PDF file, can be found on the Migration Yorkshire website here.
