Refugee Voices Network (British Red Cross)

The VOICES network is a collective of refugees and people seeking asylum. Together, they speak out about issues that affect them. As people with lived experience, VOICES Ambassadors share unique insights into what it’s like to seek asylum in the UK and contribute to their communities. The VOICES Network is supported by the British Red Cross, but an independent group of Experts by Experience and does not represent any organisation.

The VOICES Network is made up of several local Networks from across the UK, collectively working to amplify the voices of people with lived experience of migration and displacement to bring about positive change to minds, policy and practice.
